Artist's Statement

With a command of Realistic Drawing and Oil Painting as a springboard, I was able to visualize a deeper reality regarding the constant metamorphosis of the human being, and from there I was able to take a leap in the creation of alternative/parallel realities. The fragmentation of my characters is the way I can reconcile the complexity of the human condition with the perpetual need for transformation every individual must undergo to be able to survive. Each facet is part of the hologram of the person or rather one out of an infinite set of possibilities that person has at any given moment in time. By assembling together all these dimensions of the same person on the same plane, the character becomes a collage of himself.
